

Investigating woodlice

By Marley chierighini

What I did:

I took a clear plastic container on a walk through the dark woods to search for woodlice. I looked lots under rocks and in damp places.

What I observed:

you don't always find woodlice under logs and stones I found them under flowers and in dark places like under flower pots.

How I kept the woodlice safe:

I put them in a pot with bark leaves dirt and gravel.

Improvements for further investigations I could do:

I could get a magnifying glass and have a closer look at it and put them in groups.
