Little Chef's club at Oakfield Junior School. Classes will be run on Thursday after school in the Creative Cabin. We use different cooking methods, and discuss topics such as food sustainability, using seasonal and local produce where possible. Your child will learn about how and where different foods are grown, skills such as peeling, chopping and blending, sensory properties of foods through taste tests and games and how nutritional and sensory properties of foods change through the cooking process.

Research shows that getting children involved in food preparation and cooking at a young age can lead to better dietary choices later in life as it sets them up with skills and knowledge required to make those choices. Cooking club offers a safe, supportive learning environment for your child to find their inner chef and have some fun whilst doing so!

Classes will be a mixture of cooking a delicious savoury/sweet dish and/or food games/taste tests. Vegetarian / vegan friendly.

Please note that places are limited. To book directly or for more information please return the slip below to Aimee at info@premanutrition.co.uk
